Auditor Wilder has begun to look up property that has heretofore escaped taxation, and if he will not continue the good work, the tax levy will be lowered after a while.

The scramble for Federal offices begins in grim earnest this week, and the candidates for the postmasterhip will begin active operations without delay, notwithstanding the fact that the present incumbent holds over until December.

A mule belonging to Aleck Johnson, colored, was killed near the old C. S. & N. crossing, Monday morning by the 4 o'clock train. The particulars of the accident are unobtainable, and it is not known whether or not the blame rests on the railroad or the owner.

A chimney at the residence of Mr. B. J. Barrett burned out Thursday morning and an alarm of fire was given at once, calling out both reel companies. No damage was done, except by the water which ran down the chimney and wet the carpets.

A few of the young men who have not lost interest in base ball and wish to have something to relieve the monotony during the summer, are talking of organizing a team. There are a number of first class ball players in the city and it would not be difficult to organize a strong team if sufficient interest could be aroused.

The trade in horses and mules continues large, and the number sold since last fall is regarded by many as a certain indication of a large crop this year.

From Cripple Creek.

After the big fire in Cripple Creek, I took a very severe cold and tried many remedies without help, the cold only becoming more settled. After using three small bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, both the cough and cold left me, and in this high altitude it takes a meritorious cough remedy to do any good.—G. B. HENDERSON, editor Daily Advertiser. For sale by A. J. Chisla.

MARRIED.

The marriage ceremony of Dr. Joseph J. Watson, of Columbia, and Miss Elberta China, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. China, which was performed in the First Methodist Church at 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Rev. J. W. Daniel in the presence of hundreds of the friends of the two young people who then pledged their troth was one of the most notable society events of the season.

The Church was exquisitely decorated, the friends of the fair young bride having made it a labor of love to beautify it for the happy occasion.

Rising over the chancel rail was an arch composed of evergreens and red, white, yellow and pink imitation chrysanthemums, fringed with a hundred wax tapers. Pendant from the centre of the arch was a large horse-shoe wrought in pink flowers and evergreens. The chancel rail was tastefully fastened. On the pulpit stand were palms and potted plants and cut flowers in rich profusion. The arch of the pulpit alcove bore the inscription in letters made of evergreen: "Gold Bless This Union." At the one extremity was the initial "C," at the other, "W." Both were made of white flowers. The organ was concealed by masses of ferns, palms and plants tipped with burning tapers.

A few moments after the hour announced, Mr. Dave Winn, who presided at the organ, began to play Mendelssohn's wedding march and a hush of expectation fell upon the waiting audience. The couples came through the doors on either side of the pulpit rostrum, alternately crossing and coming within the chancel by opposite aisles. They went down each aisle till the doors were reached, then the couples separated and down the right aisle came the groom with his best man, while down the left came the bride with her maid of honor. The bride and groom met in front of the chancel rail, while the several couples, re-forming, marched back, taking positions on either side of the couple about to be wedded.

The marriage ceremony was then performed, in accordance with the rites of the Methodist church, and the bridal party left the church by the left aisle, and were then driven back to Dr. China's residence, when a short time was spent in receiving the wedding guests and other intimate friends, before the happy couple left on the 6.30 train for Washington, where a week or more will be spent.

The attendants were as follows:

Miss Fannie China, maid of honor, and Mr. William Watson, best man.
Miss Rosa Lee Harris, of Fort Valley, Ga., and Mr. W. J. Crossland, of Bennettsville.
Miss Lillie Delgar, of Sumter, and Mr. W. F. Lamar, of Columbia.
Miss Lottie Moore of Bennettsville and Mr. W. W. Watson of Columbia.
Miss Marie Lee of Sumter and Mr. Ed V. Green of Sumter.
Miss Emma Mason of Sumter and Mr. John C. Crosswell of Sumter.
Miss Addie Auld of Sumter and Mr. R. Blair Watson of Columbia.
Miss Mattie Carson of Sumter and Dr. A. K. Brown of Columbia.
Miss Lucy Graham of Sumter and Dr. Robert W. Gibbs of Columbia.
Miss Daisy Nash of Sumter and Mr. Douglas China of Sumter.
Miss Pauline Gaillard of Sumter and Mr. A. T. Gibbs of Columbia.
The ushers were Messrs A. Watson of Columbia and Will Graham and Henry Hill of Sumter.

Richbourg—Caldwell.

Mr. John R. Caldwell, of Wedgefield, and Miss Emma Richbourg, daughter of Gen. R. N. Richbourg, were married at the residence of the bride's parents yesterday afternoon by Rev. W. W. Daniels. It was a quiet home wedding and immediately after the ceremony the newly married couple left for Wedgefield, where they will remain a few days and then proceed to Atlanta, which will be their future place of residence.—The State, Feb. 25th.

RICHARD JENNINGS.

Why will you buy bitter nauseating tonics when Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic is as pleasant as Lemon Syrup. Your druggist is authorized to refund the money in every case where it fails to cure. Price, 50 cents.

The street bands are now at work grading Main Street. The level of the street will be lowered and the dirt that has been put on this street at the expenditure of considerable money in past years, will be hauled away to other parts of the town, where it will be used for safe keeping until it is thought to be needed again. The transportation of street dirt from one portion of this town to another is one of the established industries.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers have invented a great many valuable things. They were the first to make brooms by machinery; the first to put up seeds in little packages; the first to manufacture cut nails.

Now they are out with a method of curing dyspepsia by resting the stomach. Their remedy is known as the Shaker Digestive Cordial. It supplies food in an artificially digested form and at the same time aids the digestion of other foods in the stomach. In other words, by the use of the Shaker Digestive Cordial, a dyspeptic virtually gets along without the use of his stomach until it is restored to its natural strength and vigor. A single 10 cent bottle will oftentimes give marked relief. Get a bottle from your druggist and try it.

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

A NEGRO KILLED.

Fatal Shooting Affray Between Negroes at Elliotts.

ELLIOTT, S. C., March 2.—Our neighborhood has once more been disturbed in its peaceful slumbers by the loss of a desperate character's life. Jerry Mack was shot and killed by John Baylock, both colored, to-day. Jerry Mack is the son of the notorious Eli Mack, who was a terror to this community years ago, and the writer believes he lost his life while trying to escape from the penitentiary. Jerry has been in various difficulties. He had a shooting scrape with Simon Cooper about one week before the difficulty at Lynchburg.

He was a negro of a mean face and always carried a pistol on his person. It seems as if the dispute was over the small amount of fifty cents John owed Jerry, and while John was plowing on the plantation of Mr. DesChamps he was attacked by Jerry. A shooting scrape ensued and resulted in the death of latter. Baylock was for a while a porter in DesChamps' store, and having his life threatened by Jerry, took from a draw in the office the pistol that did the fatal work.

A Narrow Escape.

An old negro man and a girl made a narrow escape from being run over by some freight cars last night at the crossing at the foot of Main Street. They were on their way out of town after the evening trains had gone, and did not notice that freight cars were being moved by the shifting engine. The mule and front of the wagon on which the man and girl were sitting, got across far enough to prevent injury to them but the wagon was demolished. The man afterwards returned into town with the mule, but his name was not learned.

This is not the first accident of the kind, and it would be well for the city authorities to take some action to require the placing of a guard or gate that will prevent persons or vehicles crossing the track while trains are passing or freight cars being shifted. Other cities have gates that are let down across the street, on either side of the track.

Township Commissioners.

Clerk of Court Nash has received from Gov. Elberta the list of Township Commissioners appointed for Sumter County, and is now ready to administer the oath to said Commissioners as soon as they present themselves at his office.

There were a number of changes in the list after it was originally presented to the Governor by the Sumter delegation. The Commissioners appointed are:

Sumter—H. Ryttenberg, W. M. Graham, W. M. S. Reaves.
Bishopville—W. M. Stuckey, J. P. Kilgore, T. Ed Baskins.
Mt. Cleo—R. M. Cooper, J. J. Shaw, J. M. Mooneyham.
Coscord—Edward F. Burrows, J. M. Brogdon, J. J. Brunson.
Lynchburg—Jos. E. Wilson, R. B. Wilson, W. A. Tallon.
Privateer—W. O. Cain, J. M. Jackson, D. E. Wells.
Manchester—R. I. Manning, J. M. Kolb, Alfred Owens.
Middleton—E. E. Aycock, S. H. Ramsey, Frean Mellett.
Rafing Creek—R. M. James, Thos. O. Sanders, Thos. McLeod.
Shiloh—S. J. Tomlinson, W. J. Keels, J. B. Hawkins.
Providence—R. J. Brownfield, J. F. Bradford, W. S. Burkett.
Carters Crossing—J. C. Parnell, D. A. Stuckey, J. Ed Stuckey.
Spring Hill—W. J. McKain, J. W. Weldon, J. D. Evans.
Stateburg—Dr. J. C. Spano, W. M. Lenoir, Wallace Sanders.
Mayesville—Nelson Hudson, J. M. McElveen, J. A. Boykin.
Swimming Pans—N. S. McLeod, W. S. Dinkins, R. P. Stackhouse.

The blue-bird is hailed as a harbinger of Spring. It is also a reminder that a blood-purifier is needed to prepare the system for the debilitating weather to come. Listen and you will hear the birds singing: "Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla in March, April, May."

Mr. E. H. Moses returned from Columbus, Ga., Friday afternoon, where he has been to purchase the plant of the Independent Ice Co. Before leaving Columbus he personally superintended the loading of one car, which will arrive Tuesday, and the entire plant about Friday or Saturday. Construction of the building was commenced early this morning and will be rushed through to be in readiness for the machinery.

The Mayor's court room in the City Hall has been provided with "mourner's benches" for the accommodation of the Monday and other morning sinners. These benches are very appropriately painted black, which shows the artistic taste of Judge Hurst. Seats will be reserved for the exclusive use of persons on trial, and the cost of reserved seats will range from $1 to $50, according to Mayor Bossard's opinion of the performance of each actor.

The Graded School cellar has undergone a thorough test during the recent heavy rains. Since Street Commissioner Tribble put in the underground system of drains around the building, which were recommended by Mr. J. C. Gourdin, whose opinion was asked as an expert, there has never been sufficient wet weather to see whether the water would rise in the cellar as before. The building was inspected this morning and the cellar was found dry, showing that the drainage system does its work well.

Four men were before the Mayor Saturday morning charged with drunk and disorderly conduct. Three were white tramps who claimed to be brick masons in search of work, and they were set free on condition that they leave town. The other was a negro and was fined $5. It would have been a good scheme to have sentenced the tramps to ten days on the streets and thus given them an opportunity of working at their trade putting down brick crossings on Main Street. Money would have been saved to the city and a warning given to tramps that work awaits them when they reach Sumter.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.

After having been confined to the house for eleven days and paying out $25 in doctor bills without benefit, Mr. Frank Dolsen of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., was cured by one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm costing 25 cents and has not since been troubled with that complaint. For sale by Dr. A. J. Chisla.

THE COURT OF SESSIONS.

The Court of General Sessions convened at 10 o'clock Monday morning with Judge Klugh on the bench and Solicitor Wilton and other court officials at their posts.

The Grand Jury was empanelled and sworn and after Col. J. A. Rhame had been selected as foreman, Judge Klugh proceeded to deliver his charge.

The most important portion of the charge was in relation to the lynching of Simon Cooper. The Judge impressed upon the jury that it was their duty to proceed to make a thorough investigation of the entire affair, so that the persons guilty of the crime may be apprehended and brought to justice. His remarks were forcible and to the point, showing that he stands squarely for the enforcement of the law to the letter and without fear or favor.

Judge Klugh has made a decided impression at the outset by his straightforward and forcible, yet calm and judicious charge, and it is evident that he is the man for the position. Solicitor Wilton had several bills in readiness, for the Grand Jury and the Court got down to work at once.

SECOND DAY.

The Court of Sessions has been sitting for two days and the work before it has been disposed of with systematic promptness. None of the cases that have so far come to trial were of much importance and there has been nothing of sufficient interest to reward the patient attendance of the crowd that fills the benches reserved for the public.

The following is a list of the cases on the docket, of which the first six were continued from the last term:

The State vs. Jos. Wilson and E. M. Cooper, Rule to show cause.
The State vs. Success Burrows, Obtaining goods under false pretenses. Not guilty.
The State vs. Robert W. Chandler, Obtaining goods under false pretenses.
The State vs. Charles Wesley, Maintaining a common nuisance.
The State vs. Frank O'Donnell, Unlawful storing and keeping contraband liquor. Not guilty.
The State vs. D. E. Keels, Order to show cause.
The State vs. Samuel A. Tomlinson, Assault and battery with intent to kill.
The State vs. Frank Nance, Highway robbery and larceny. Transferred to Contingent Docket; defendant in asylum.
The State vs. Jake Whitfield, Assault and battery of a high and aggravated nature. Not proved.
The State vs. Jake Whitfield, Resisting an officer and aggravated assault and battery. Plead guilty. Six months on chain gang, or $50 fine.
The State vs. Sidney Jackson, Assault and battery of a high and aggravated nature.
The State vs. Lawrence DeLaney alias Charley DeLaney, Larceny.
The State vs. Arthur Sanders, Larceny of live stock.

For the K. of P. Lodge.

An entertainment of a very high character will be given by Miss Bertha A. Willsea, of New York City, elocutionist, impersonator, dramatist and vocalist, in Masonic Temple Hall on Thursday evening, March 5th, under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias. Miss Willsea is as highly recommended by the pulpit and press. She is making a professional tour from New York to St. Augustine. Let every one hear her. Miss Willsea will be assisted by some of the best local musical talent.

The Cracker Trust is getting in its work at present, and cracker eaters are paying more for the dainty luxuries. Within the last few days the trust and competing companies have advanced prices nearly fifty per cent on certain grades of crackers and there has been an advance all through the list. Crackers that formerly sold for eight cents per pound wholesale now cost eleven cents and other grades in proportion. The grocers know of no good reason for the advance in price, but they are helpless and must either pay the prices demanded or do without crackers. The consumers must pay higher prices as the grocers are not in business for fun and they will advance the retail prices in proportion to the prices fixed by the trust. The power of capital seems to be limitless and the people are forced to submit to the exactions laid upon them by the trusts or deny themselves many of the necessities and luxuries of life.

The Eugene Blair Co. failed to give the performance of "East Lynne" Wednesday evening. The small audience that was present at the Academy of Music when the curtain went up was greatly disappointed when the curtain was unceremoniously dropped after the first act had been in progress a few minutes and the announcement made that owing to the illness of a member of the company the performance could not be given. The box office refunded to all who had purchased tickets, and the audience had to accept that as consolation for the disappointment. The excuse given for discontinuing the performance was doubtless as good as could be devised in the emergency and did as well as another. It is the general opinion, however, and this opinion is substantiated by attendant circumstances and remarks made on the stage that did not belong to the lines of the play, that the small audience was the prime cause of the sudden illness of the leading man. Miss Blair made a decidedly favorable impression in the performance of Jane Eyre, and it is to be hoped that the experience of last evening will not prevent a return to Sumter sometime in the future.

A LITTLE ROW.

A Swearing Negro Resists Arrest.

Tom Nelson, colored, and his brother-in-law, while discussing on Republican Street, near the rear of Yates' grocery store, the size of the prospective cotton crop became too emphatic in their arguments, and this got into trouble with the police Saturday afternoon. Nelson was of the opinion that he could make more cotton than his brother-in-law and reinforced his opinion by swearing a great big D. Unfortunately for himself Policeman Smith overheard his profane arguments and at once proceeded to engage him for the Monday morning performance in the Opera House. Nelson objected and wrapped himself around a post by way of emphasizing his refusal to appear. Policeman Smith used his stick on Nelson's head without effect and had to blow his whistle for reinforcements. Nelson was then run in.

Robert Wright and James Lud, who were looking on in Vienna, could not keep their tongues quiet and got themselves into trouble. They were rash enough to remark that the policemen had no right to club Nelson, and their temerity landed them in the clutches of the vigilant officers of the law. They were arrested and taken to the guard house along with Nelson. A large crowd gathered, of course, and some of the foolish element of the negroes had a good deal to say that would have been much better left unsaid. For their own good, people who have no part in a street row had better keep out of it and keep their mouths shut. The policemen have their duty to perform, and while they may make mistakes at times and arrest persons without adequate cause, it is the height of folly for the person arrested or his friends to resist or interfere with the police.

Judge Buchanan Canned.

Winesboro, February 23.—The court of general sessions convened here on Monday, the 15th instant, Judge O. W. Buchanan presiding. This is Judge Buchanan's first appearance on the bench of this, his native home. Fairfield feels justly proud of having a son who is so worthy of the judicial ermine. A most substantial proof of this lies in the fact that at the close of the fourth day's business Clerk of the Court R. H. Jennings, on behalf of the grand and petit jurors and citizens of Fairfield county, presented Judge Buchanan with a gold-headed cane in token of the esteem in which he is held by his own people. The Judge responded with considerable pathos in his language. He took occasion to thank the people of his native county for esteem manifested toward him in the past, and expressed the intention to live up to the standard which such treatment inspires.—News and Courier.
